TESTIMONY TAKEN TO-DAY BY THE CURTIN CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE.

Before the Curtin Investigating Committee this morning William Hawkins, a foreman of the St. Louis shops, was the first witness. He said he had not had restored to him the pay he received before the agreement of 1885, nor had he received payment for overtime. He had had his hand crippled but for this injury he

After more parrying with Mr. Stewart, the reverend witness said he would not have any people rest in slavery as long as they had hands and arms. O'Leary said that there was a difference between the cause and the continuance of the strike. The men who had ordered the strike had no intained the strike had no intained action had kept the strike as over a few days, and the company's stubborn and obsinate action had kept the strike on.

Father O'Leary declared the Law and Order League a burlesque. As he was leaving the stand Mr. Stewart said:

"Will you please give us the names of the men employed by the company to guard their property who you said were not fit for the Penitentiary?"

"No, sir."

"No, sir."

"Because the company might promote them." [Laughter.]

Urged again to give the names, he declined, saying that he would give them to the committee, but not in the presence of the railroad men.

"Wwy?" said Mr. Stewart.

General Committeeman Thomas Barry of the Knights of Labor returned this morning from a trip over the Texas and Western end of the Gould Southwest system. The sub-com-mittee of the Congressional Investigation Committee, composed of W. H. Crane, James Buchanan, A. X. Parker and Assistant Ser-geant-at-Arms Coombs, will arrive at the Southern Hotel late this afternoon.

ACTING SENSIELT.

Meeting of the Chicago Eight-Hour Association—Violence Denounced.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The Eight-Hour Association met last night, Mr. Nelson preciding. Thomas E. Hill made a speech concerning the progress of the movement. He said 5,008 men secured eight hours and hethought the work airsady done was very gratifying. Joseph Gruenhut made an appeal for more thorough organization, and for the formation of a Contral Union of all labor organizations. Unless all the trades stood together and kept up the agitation, he said those who had secured a reduction of hours would soon lose it. Gruenhut fluence to induce striking workmen who have no hope of success, to return to work.

Mr. Hill proposed the work had secured a reduction of the working classe.

The resolution provoked a warm debate, Joseph Gruenhut opposed its adoption. Violence was not necessary in Chicago at present, he said, but there were times and places where it was the workingman's only hope. "Many workingmen have had wrongs and grievances in their hearts for ten years. The employers of labor do not take into consideration the rights of labor at all. When they desire to break down their workinen they will import whole shiploads of the lowest scum of the earth. It is not necessary for ns to pass resolutions condemnatory to men who are trying to improve their low condition. Let those resolutions be passed by other people. When, the other night, on the Hay Market, the police came to disperse that meeting of what they call anarchists, if a bomb was thrown it is not our business. We did not throw it. Nobody has accused us."

The resolution was finally adopted. A special committee was appointed to visit the manufacturers whose shops are closed and endeavor to effect a compromise on which the men can resume work. Eight hours' work for eight hours' pay will be the aim of the committee.

THE PENSION FRAUDS.

COMMISSIONER BLACK BACKING UP HIS CHARGES WITH STRONG PROOF.

Washington, D. C., May 13.—The Senate Committee on the expenditures of Public Moneys resumed the examination of Commissioner Black this morning. Senator Cullomiald before him the papers in the cases of Corporal Alonzo Francisco, Thirty-ninth Indiana Volunteers (one of those submitted by Gen Black to support the mitted by Gen. Black to support the allegations in his report that the Pension office had been managed as a political machine) and asked what there was therein to machine) and asked what there was therein to sustain the aliegations.

The Commissioner, referring to the papers and the claimant applied for a pension six days before the expiration of the ilmit to the payment of arrears. The records of the Adjutant-General's office contained no evidence of disability. The original certificate of discharge states that the claimant had been unit for duty by reason of a discase-which he had contracted before he conlisted. Among the papers was found a letter from Thomas Graham, County Auditor Jefferson County, Indiana, to Commissioner Dudley, asking, if consistent, if he would look after the papers in this case, and if it were right, hurry slong the matter, stating that it would be of advantage-to us in the way of politics."

right, hurry slong the matter, stating that it would be of advantage to us in the way of politics."

Mr. Graham added that they were having a big fight against Holman, and asked that the commissioner should not fail to do anything he could against Holman. The case was made special and rejected after examination. A second better from Graham was received, upon which the case was received, upon which the case was repensed and sent to an examination of the pension. The Commissioner said the whole history shows that the office joined in the rejection of the case. He believed the granting of the pension was contrary to all law and the evidence.

Senator Plats called up the case of Capt. Charles Schoreck, Fifseenth New York Volunceers. Almong the papers was found a letter written by J. A. Fife to Senator Logan, in which he calls attention to the long time which the claimant's papers had been in the Pension Office unserted on. He says the claimant was a member of the "Famous Springfeld Convention." Claimant was "feeling ugly" because of the delay, and the writer thought it a good scheme to have the matter sentel as soon as possible to make him feel better. The writer asks Gen. Logan's aid in the matter. Gen. Logan sent the letter to Commissioner Dudley with a request that the case be made special, which was granted and the pension was allowed. Pending further examination of the papers, the committee adjourned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—The messages from the President yesterday presented to the Sonate were to day submitted to the House and appropriately referred.

Mr. Collins of Massachusetts from the Committee of Judiciary reported a bill extending the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims for the use of patients and patented inventions against the United States. House calendar. In the moraing hour Mr. Beimont of New York called up the joint resolution providing an indemnity to Chinese subjects for losses sustained within the jurisdiction of the United States. The resolution was considered in committee of the whole. Mr. Beimont gave a history of the Chinese massacre at Rock Springs. None of the persons engaged in the outrage appeared to be citizens. Rock Springs consisted of two settlements, one inhabited by Welshmen and Swedes, the other by Chinese, all receiving the same rate of pay. For eight years the white and Chinese miners had lived peacably. Last summer a strike was to be organized by the white miners, in which the Chinese refused to take part. The evidence was clear that no other cause of officine was given. On September 2 the white miners, to the number of 150, armed themselves with rifles and made an attack on the defenseless Chinamen, Killing twenty-eight, wounding many others and burning and plundering their quarters. By the passage of this resolution the United States would express its sympathy with the victims of a wrong that the United States would not prevent nor foreage, it must be clear that the results of nob violence had only to be made known to the House to meet with the condemnation which it merited. All consideration as to the responsibility of the Government in its relation to State jurisdiction should be waived in performance of a plain duty.

Several Panels—The Prisoner's interest in the Proceedings.

Yesterday in the afternoon session of the Criminal Court Mr. Fauntieroy, of Maxwell's counsel, addressed the Court stating that since the opening of the trial in progress the door of the court-room had been guarded by two officers who had refused admission to all people who were not juors or who had not some business in the court. The law provided that the defendant's trial should be public. Mr. Fauntieroy asked permission to introduce testimony to show that the public had been excluded. This permission the Judge refused and the attorney took exception to the ruiling. The exception was noted and may form the basis of a motion for a new trial.

Judge Van Wagoner instructed the deputy to admit the public until the seating capacity ontside the bar should be filled. The court then proceeded with the business of selecting a jury from the fourth panel of the day. But one juror was chosen, he being Peter Bernet, a book keeper at 28 South Commercial street. From the next panel Anthony Boyce, tobacco manufacturer, 307 North Second street; Amos R. Cahoon, salesman, 906 Olive, and Wm. A. Cahill, a lithographer of 217 Pine street, were chosen. The next panel, the sixth of the day and the ninth of the venire, yielded four more jurors. They were W. W. Caruthers, in the grain business at 320 North Third; Wm. F. Chamberlain of Benton, and Louis J. Clark, commission merchant of 16 North Main street.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, May 12.—Meetings of both the Liberal leaders and Chamberlain's party will be held to-day, the latter at Mr. Chamberlain's house. It is supposed the future policy will be definitely decided at these. I have good reason to believe that Gladstone has not said quite the last word on the secession yet. He will probably intervene in to-morrow's debate and make clearer several points of Monday's speech. I believe he will, at the same time, add specific proposals de-fining and limiting the scope and methods of Irish participation in legislation at West-if they come to blows. They have no more right to make Ulster separate from Ireland than Irishmen have to make Liverpool separate from England. He said that Mr. Chamberlain's Brummagen home-rule does not recognize the national idea; that the national idea was the one thing Mr. Davitt cared about in the world. If Mr. Gladstone yielded to Chamberlain he would rouse the whole of Ireland and America against Mr. Gladstone's scheme.

CHAMBERIAIN AND HIS FOLLOWERS.

LONDON, May 12.—A political meeting was held at the city residence of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain to-day. Sixty members of the House of Commons were present. Mr. Chamberlain explained the renewal of his activity against Mr. Gladstone's home-rule bill by saying that he had been clearly informed last Saurday that the Presider was presented. last Saturday that the Premier was prepared last Saturday that the measure the clause exclud-ing Irish representatives from sitting at West-minster and thus maintain the unity of the Empire as desired by the Radicals. Mr. Cham-beriain declared that nothing short of the withdrawal of the home-rule bill would restore unity among the Liberals. The meeting unanimously adopted resolutions declaring that those present would do the utmost in their power to oppose the Government's Irish bills, as there was no hope that the measures would be amended in a way to make them acwould be amended in a way to make them acceptable to the followers of Mr. Chamberiain.
Mr. Caine, Liberal member for Burrow-inFurness, stated that 102 Liberal members have promised to vote against the home-rule bill, and that there are thirty-four other Liberal members who are undecided as to what course to pursue toward it. Mr. Caine also stated that the Government's action on Monday in not conceding the retention of Irish representation caused many Liberals, who had intended to vote with the Government, to change their minds. The relations between Mr. Chamberiain and Lord Hartington are very cordial.

LIVERPOOL, May 12.—There has been a cease-less downfall of rain ever since early yesterday atternoon, and the royal programme has been curtailed.

The Anchor Line steamer Furnessia, Capt. Hederwick, while proceeding down the Clyde on her way from Glasgow, for New York, came in collision with rhe Austrian steamer Tiza. Several of the Furnessia's frames and plates were damaged. The Tiza careened and shipped a heavy sea, but she afterward righted. Both steamers are now as Greenock.

SUFFERINGS OF A WEECKED CREW.

QUEBEC, May 13.—Last October the steamer Brooklyn was wrecked on Anticosti Island. The wrecking steamer, Earl of Dufferin, went to the wreck, and after securing a quantity of the wreck, and after securing a quantity of the carpo from the Brooklyn, was herself wrecked in the same place on November 20. The owners of the vessel understood the crew remained on the island all winter, and did not try to get them off. The crew, consisting of twelve men, not getting assistance, built a hull of wreckage seven miles from Fox Harbor, where there are only three finhermen's families. They got whas provisions they could from the wreck and estied down. During the merch and estied down. During the wreck and estied down. During th

THE little finger of JAY GOVLD is bigger than the whole body of the Merchant's Exchange.

THE flight of the Democratic Senators of Ohio from Columbus was foolish and inexcusable, but this does not justify the Republican Senate in attempting to transact business without a quorum.

SENATOR RIDDLEBERGER's latest misfortune was to purchase fifteen bogus circus tickets and then get himself arrested for a train of circumstances that should warn the Senator that he is not in his proper sphere of usefulness.

A PLAUSIBLE explanation of the change of front of the Merchant's Exchange Committee on the bridge question is furnished by the cfreumstance that JAY GOULD'S barge line has taken a hand in the matter. It is believed that Mr. Gould is not in favor of a new bridge of any kind at St. Louis.

Ir is natural that the English aristocrats, who constitute the main strength of the Tory party, should view with mistrust and uneasiness the continuous political reforms going on in England. Like Sir Leicester Dedlook, they look upon it all as "the obliteration of the landmarks of "the framework of the cohesion by which "things are held together."

Congressman Hepburn has been called "the beiling pot of Iown," and his latest exploit in the House of Representatives vindicates his claim to such a soubriquet. This ferocious and volcanic gentleman told his Southern colleagues, in his remarks to Gen. WREELER, that they should have been hanged for the part they took in the war. Mr. WHEELER'S offense was sharing in the belief, which originated in the North and still exists there, that Mr. STANTON, Secretary of War under Lincoln, conspired to break down certain Union Generals who did not support his line of policy. It is nobody's businessif Mr. HEPBURN chooses to constitute himself an offensive and ghastly reminisof a bloody and unforte tional war, but the floor of the National Legislature is no place for his acrobatic exhibitions of sectional hate, which might schievous if they were not ludierous | 800.

BAD FOR THE KNIGHTS. The Curtin Committee have taken the stimony of several witnesses who were Knights of Labor at the beginning of the strike at DeSoto, and whose testimony, standing unrefuted by any evidence and uncontradicted by any rebutting testimony, arraigns the DeSoto Assembly of the Knights of Labor as an organized mob, requiring its members to engage in lawless acts of violence, compelling them with threats to execute the unlawful commands of the Assembly's officers, and even ex-pelling them and advising them to leave town for refusing to obey such commands.

It may be said that Foreman O'BRIEN was in the order merely as a detective for the company; that his relations to the company made him hostile to all strikers, and that his testimony is liable to be more or less colored by his zeal in the company's service. It may be suggested that JOSEPH CRAMER'S account of his expulsion from the Knight's of Labor and his joining the Law and Order League is a false or exaggerated story, told to make himself "solld" with those who can reward his loyalty to the company. But the stories they tell not only stand uncontradicted, but corroborated by circumstances, so far as this investigation has proceeded. If the DeSoto Knights make no effort to contradict it, they will simply plead guilty to the

In that case the Curtin Committee will go back to Congress with a report that assemblies of Knights of Labor incited and required their members to engage in criminal outrages under orders from offipers of the order, and the order itself will rest under public condemnation until it vigorously purges itself of all sympathy legislation they are turning out. Ohio is fails to expel its criminal members, to make conspicuous examples of its criminal officials and to dissolve all assemblies that have departed so far from the proclaimed principles and methods of the order, it cannot hope to retain that widespread public sympathy which has been the its main strength, and which it can retain only by living up to its principles and professions both in the letter and in the

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch: NEW YORK, May 12.—The World says to day: "The objection to politicians as public officers is that their anxiety to not offend the public who have votes to cast so frequently deters them from discharging their duties fearlessly and firmly. How many mayors are there in our great cities who, like Carter H. Harrison, hesitate to act promptly and vigorously in such emergencies as that o cy, in the fear that their may offend a class of people whose votes they are only too anxious to sure? Yet, if Mayor Harrison had taken this threatened danger by the throat, exposed its enormity and strangled it in its incipiency, he would have gained a degree of popularity with raising a row about it. Solitile that Mr. Morrison begged him not to advecate the tariff bill any more because his support was hurring it; so little that his most ardent recommendation on the silver question is treated with cool contempt by his own party, and the only doubt has been whether a bill would be passed to make the coinage unlimited."

THE TIMES.

The Times says: "The agitation for eight hours is resulting as might have been expected. Employers who have in hand contracts, the profits upon which will stand an additional 20 per cent on the cost of labor, have acceded to the demand for the time being. TO-DAY'S DEVELOPMENTS.

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—The search in the relins of the buildings wreeked in yesterday's storm continued until after midnight and was resumed this morning. The children are all out of the Lathrop school building, but three men are still missing supposed to have been on the overall factory building. A meeting is to be held, probably this afternoon, to provide temporary quarters for the county and court officials, and decide upon future action. Some of the officials are in favor of abandoning the present building and erecting a new Court-house on another size. The records and papers, all of which are saved, will be removed to some convenient building. The Western Union telegraph officials report their wires being rapidly replaced, and they expect to clear business a during the day.

DELIBES' SENSUOUS MUSIC PINELY INTER-PRETED BY THE AMERICAN OPERA CO.

Last night belonged to L'Allemand. She won it fairly by dint of talent and brilliant accomplishment. Her siren notes rippied out over the vast auditorium as clear and pure as refined gold, and fell with freeststible charm on every listening car.

his role, without developing anything striking.

The three scenes of the garden, the street and the jungle were superbly put on, the effects being striking and fine. The ballet was a symphony in dusky limbs and sinsel, with an allegro movement in fleshings by Mile. de Gillert. It made a pretty and unique pleture.

The superb orchestra still showed an inclination to swamp the sincers, but not nearly so much as Monday night. The only part where it succeeded in gatting on top of everything else was in the dues between Gerald and Lakme, when both singers, and particularly Candidas, were swept out of hearing. The fine audience was warmed to enthusiasm, and there is no doubt that the popular music of Delibes and the artist of "Lakme" would be welcomed again during the week.

A moment before she had been suddenly attacked with vomiting, growing deathly pale and being apparently in great pain. Those who hurriedly assembled about her hardly knew for the instant what course to pursue, but soon a messenger was dispatched for a conveyance, and returned with an omnibus that carries passengers to and from the station. To that the young lady was tenderly carried and in it she was borne to the house of Joseph Schroader, her uncle, on North street, with whom she had lived for many years. Drs. Seely and Elling, wood were promptly summoned and they did everything that suggested itself to relieve the unfortunate girl from the agony with which she was afflicted and to save her life, but she gradually grew weaker, and in the evening it was seen that death was inevitable. She died about 9 o'clock. Various attempts were made to Becure from her a statement of the cause that led her to take the poison, but they were of no avail. Katle Schroader was well-known in Attice where every one spoke highly of her. Yesterday morning when it was known that her death had occurred deep regret was expressed and everybody seemed more anxious than ever to learn the reason for the act. Many advanced theories and more anxious than ever to learn the reason for the act. Many advanced theories and may others picked flaws in them. The true explanation seemed to be that the victim had grown despondent through an overtaxed brain and infelicties at her home. Her father died several years ago and when she was altities girls he was taken by her uncle Joseph took and cared for a younger sister of Katle. Three other children of Joseph's brooms drifted elsewhere. Katie and her aunt, it is said, were not congenial and were occasionally the principals in the family quarrels. Katie believed she was imposed on by her foster mother. Katie had regularly attended the High School in Attica for several years, and was the youngest member of the class that will graduate at the commencement in June. She was exceedingly bright in her studies and that she had been too energette in her school work, and had overstudied to such an extentional that her mind became affected. An overtaxed brain, coupled with the annoyances of her home, and the possibility that she might have inherited a disposition to insanity from her mother, is supposed to account for her suricide. She had carried the poison in her pocket for two or three days and had exhibited it to a tew of her intimate school friends, remarking she would take it, but what she said was not a matter of comment until after she had swallowed the deadly dose.

PUTNAM, Conn., May II.—After the acquittal on Saturday of Miss Emily Anderson, the pretty proprietor of the Putnam Railroad restaurant, on the charge of stealing Miss Annie M. Bates' spring bonnet from the ladies' waiting-room in the depot in April, her counsel, Waiter Bennett, notified Miss Bates' uncle, Rhodes E. Alien, a wealthy farmer with whom she boards, and who was her backer in the criminal proceedings against Miss Anderson, that he should bring suit against him for $4.000, charging him with 'slandering and defaming' his client's character. Lawyer Sennett says that Mr. Allen is a fighter, that he is continually in a broil in his school district, and that he pashed the case against Miss Anderson because he loves to fight on general principles. Mr. Allen's plea is that there is not a shadow of doubt that Miss Anderson took the hat; that it is absurded suppose that two women's hats ever were exactly alike; that Mr. Bennett cooked up a case, and that the witnesses for the defense were not subjected to cross-examination. Mr. Allen being an influential Baptist, he is strongly supported by the members of that denomination, while all the men in Putnam who are not Baptist are satisfied that Miss Anderson did not steal the bonnet. The suit against Mr. Allen for slander may be tried before the next term of the Superior Court of Brooklyn, Conn.

It seems that Lyles weat to Hume and bought a box of cartridges, and then went out, apparently in search of Miss Grimes, whom he met returning home from school. He started home with her, and after going a short distance he renewed his proposal which was refused, whereupon he drew his revolver and fired at her. Falling after the second shot the girl got up and started towards she house. Lyles followed, emptying his revolver at her as he went. Not being satisfied by shooting her fourteen times, he out her throat and then beat her brains out. A few minutes after he was arrested by Mr. Spencer, another farmer in the neighborhood, and turned over to the police from whom he was taken by a mob and lynched within an hour after the commission of the crime.

ored to hit as hard as they could, and some of the blows which Mitchell delivered left their marks on Burke.

The best proof that Bradburn's decision of a draw was faulty were the bruises left on Burke. His left eye is closed and his face cut up terribly near the nose on both sides. "Burke showed up as clean and sprightly looking as any one could desire," said Tom: "that is to say, in the beginning of the fight. I watched closely and I don't believe that Burke landed a single square blow on Mitchell during the whole ten rounds. In addition to his head blows Mitchell gave Burke some heavy body punishment and after the fight Burke seemed to suffer considerably, while Mitchell was as clean as when he first stepped into the ring." Cincinnati's Weakness.

Under the caption of a "Word to the Managers," the Cincinnati Enquirer of yesterday says: "There are one or two men in the Cincinnati team who could, if the management so willed, be replaced by younger and more active men. It is hardly necessary to mention any names. There is not a patron of the game but who could pick out the individuals referred to, and if the management cannot, it is high time that their eyes were opened. If a base ball team is to be used to keep old and used up players on a pension, then all well and good, but it is hardly doing justice to the patrons of the game. They do not pay their money to see a lot of worn-out hacks make pretentions to play ball. What is more, they won't pay for this kind of entertainment. The majority of the Cincinnati team are young and active men who play ball as only young men can play, and it is a shame to have their reputations—professionally speaking—marred by the bad playing of ball-tossers who have seen their best days. Weed them out and the attendance to the games will be materially increased."

Tane, the catcher for the Washingtons, anot seem able to bring down his superiss weight. He practices hard every day for that purpose.

The "phenomena" have begun to explode already. How will Ramsey explain those fourteen old-time sockdologors the Browns treated him to yesterday?

Radbourn has the peculiar luck of pitching in more extra-inning games than any other Lagrue pitcher, and this season he started right in the first day with an eleven-inning game.

Calinhan, No. 1910 North Twenty-second street.

Nearly every Association Olinh has had one or more players crippied. The Louisville, Metropolitan and Athletic club have been particularly unfortunate in this respect. The Bt. Louis Olinh was very lucky last season in escaping serious cripping, and that, too, despite the fact that the Browns took more chances of being hurt by their reckless base running. Their luck is still sticking to them, but a change must come sooner or later.

Every horse on the list has found friends who have chanced their money on the result, the great cracks, Freeland and Miss Woodford, for some cause, apparently finding the fewest number of friends among the book-betting speculators. Noticeable among the many best made by Mr. Roche since the opening of his book are the following: 3,125 to 125 against Aits. 4,000 to 300 Binnette, 4,100 to 32 John A., 2,000 to 320 Modesty, 1,500 to 130 John A., 2,000 to 300 Filips S. All of the other horses have been backed in a small way by local players. The bulk of the money lad on Binnette, Alts. Lucky B and Volante has been received from the Golden Gate. A number of the horses entered in the Eclipse will show up during the Louisville, meeting, which opens day after tomorrow, and such as shows up to the good will readily find friends to put money on them for the Eclipse. The report that the grand old horse Freeland was hopelessly broken down should be taken with many grains of allowance. Such reports have been sent abroad on many previous occasions, but the old chap has generally managed to face the starter in good enough shape to bag his party. MISS JENNIE CHAMBERLAIN.

Silly Rumors Regarding the Famous Bean

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 12.—For the misfo possessing unusual beauty and of having walked abroad where the world might observe it Miss Jennie Chamberlain of Cleveland has been compelled to endure a publicity which, like the measles, once started must run its course. The latest story generally current about this famous young lady is that she con-about this famous young lady is that she contemplates taking to the stage with a view to a professional career. This report is said by one of her friends to be utterly untrue. Miss Chamberlain has not, for a moment, thought of turning actress. She is entirely disposed to privacy, except in so far as her visits abroad may make her an object of public attention. Miss Chamberlain is now in this city, the guest of Mrs. Paran Stevens. Her father, mother and brother are occupying apartments at Victoria Hotel. Miss Chamberlain has also been the guest of Mrs. Edwin Parsons since she returned from the West. She will shortly join her family at the Victoria.

West. She will shortly join her family at the Victoria.
Said a friend yesterday: "When Miss Chamberiain arrived in New York from abroad she was not in the best of health, although her appearance would not indicate this. Her stay of two months at her home in Clevelland has brought about a change for the better. Her bright eyes and handsome features she inherits from her father, who is an extremely handsome man. It has been currently reported that New York society has not received Miss Chamberiain. This gossip arose from the fact of her conspicuous absence from the many fashionable gatherings of the season. This rumor found many believers. There is, however, no truth in the story. As has already been stated, Miss Chamberiain when she arrived from England was not in the best of health. Her London physician cautioned her as she was about to leave England to look well after herself, and to avoid especially the fatigue of social entertainments. She has declined almost every invitation extended her."

declined almost every invitation extended her."

Miss Chamberiain will|scon return to England to enjoy the London season. After the season is over she will make a number of visits in the country, and has promised to spend several weeks with friends in Scotland. She will not go on the continent this year, as her many engagements in England will preclude her taking the trip. Her father has started a large stock farm just outside of Chicago. He purchased the other day at the Kellogg sale one of Leiand Stanford's colts from the Polo Alto ranch, price $1,325. The colt is a son or Electioneer, and is pronounced one of the finest in the lot.

THE FIERY, LOUD-MOUTHED ANARCHIST CAPTURED BY INSPECTOR BYRNES.

to the Apartments of a Female Frien Hiding Under a Bed-Safe in the Famo

Aldermanic Cell.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

New York, May 19.—Herr Johann Most, the long-haired anarchist, passed last night in the now famous aldermanic cell, No. 6, at police headquarters. He was found hiding under a bed in a furnished room at 198 Allen street. The anarchist was arrested on a bench warrant issued by Recorder Smythe April 29, for his speech at the meeting of the "Workingmen's Rifle Club" at Germania Hall, No. 9 Second avenue on April 23, when he brandished a rifle and cried: "Down with the police!" Schenek and Braunschwig, his associates, Schenek and Braunschwig, his associates, were arrested on the afternoon of April 30, but Most fied. Detective Sergeants Owen, Haley and Brunner were put on the track, scourin Jersey Heights, Newark and South Brooklyr where he was said to have a staunch friend in a Mrs. Little. The house was located by fol-lowing a carrier for the Freiheit, Most's organ, who left the paper there, but both Mrs. Little and the carrier denied all knowledge of the agitator's whereabouts. It was then ascertained that Most spent a great deal of his scertained that Most spent a great deal of his time in the company of disorderly women. The East Side precincts were watched and he was traced to his lair. A Mrs. Fischer, who keeps a furnished-room house in the Fifteenth Precinct, had a good-looking young daughter named Lena. The latter did not spend much time there but made frequent visits outside. On the other hand it was discovered that Mrs. Fischer was an ardent reader of the Freihelt. Detective Crowley found that she and her daughter paid visits to No. 198 Allen street. The house is a tenement occupied by several families. The lower or ground floor was occupied by a Mrs. Brown, who sublet two of the rooms to Lena Fischer. The latter appeared to be very mysterious in her movements. Once Sergt. Crowley thought he saw the figure of a man in the doorway, leading to the street, which resembled Most. It was on Sunday night and since then the house had been watched. Having satisfied himself that there was game in the house, inspector Byrnes set a trap. He detailed an officer to ask Mrs. Fischer for her daughter's address as he was an old admirer of hers and having just come into possession of some money he wanted to renew their relationship. The old lady bit at the bait and offered to personally conduct the handsome young man to her daughter's rooms. This was Monday night. Once inside, the girl naturally convinced the officer that he must be mistaken, since she had never seen him before. During the little conversation that followed in explanation, the officer satisfied himself that there was another person in the room and he also bold front on while being interrogated.

"Who is in that room?" asked the Inspector, pointing to a bed-room off from the front room.

"I shan't tell you; it's none of your business," replied the girl.

"Well, then, open the door and we will see who is in there." continued the chief.

"Indeed, I won't! I'll never open that door!" I'll you do not we shall have to break it open," and the detectives began to gather about the door.

"Well, I don't care. That's the only way you'll get in. You will have to break it open and then suffer the consequences."

"Open the door, gentlemen," said the Inspector, addressing his aids, and the door went down as if it was a shingle. At first glance the room was empty, but a hasty examination under the bed disclosed a pair of boots near the edge.

"Here he is!" shouted Detective Crowley, and catching hold of the ankies of the boots he dragged the great fire-eater from his hidding place. He was dressed in his trousers and vest, which were covered with feathers and dust. He looked the pleture of misery and his long hair was dishevelled and dusty. Looking from one to the other of his captors, he said:

"Well, what do you want?"

"You are arrested on a bench-warrant," replied the Inspector.

"Oh! I suppose it was for that speech made on Second avenue."

"He was searched, but the only things found on him were $6.40, a pocket-knife and a few keys. Once in the detective office his pedigree was taken as follows:

"What is your name?"

"Johann Most."

"Song dermany."

"Married or single?"

"Single."

"Where were you born?"

"In germany."

"Married or single?"

"Single."

"When saked by the Inspector if it was true that he had been in several prisons in Europe, he replied with apparent pride, "Oh, yes, I've been in a lot of European prisons, but

When asked by the Inspector if it was true that he had been in several prisons in Europe, he replied with apparent pride, "Oh, yes, I've been in a lot of European prisons, but my imprisonment has always been in defense of liberty." He also volunteered the assertion that he had been twice a member of the German Parliament.

His residence was then put in the book as 198 Allen street where he was found. A further search of the room occupied disclosed about 100 books of various sizes treating on the manufacture and use of dynamits. These were packed away in several bureau drawers together with several hundred copies of the Freiheit. Under the bed was found the Winchester rifle and bayonet that he used in his fiery speech at Germania Hall.

The completion of the road will occupy 5,000 men for five years. This bill has a history, having been continuously before the Legislature for twenty years. It has passed one branch or the other fifteen times; it has passed both branches four times; and three times it has been vetoed by the Governors—Hoffman, Cleveland and Hill. Its passage now, after such a fight against persistent opposition, attests the pluck and energy of its promoter and President, Melville C. Smith, formerly of Minnesota, and a member of the project has been mostly done, and it is understood that ground will be broken at three or four places during the coming hot months. The work will cost nearly $100,000,000.
